Abstract:

This research studies the relationship between the technique form and the expression forming.

It shows the difference in meaning between the pronounciation in dictionary and structure and what it connects to, like technical forming and what it includes of the connection between the grammatical structure in meaning and the way to discoverthe meaning throughout the structure, and the link of the structures in language in giving the meaning.

And the influence of the different structures in forwarding (sending) meanings.

As ,I will search in semantical leaving in pronounciation , during the study of the difference between the hidden meaning in pronouynciation only and the meaning that'd we have when we build (form) vocabularies in the different uses .

And I will also search in the indication in sending semantics and the pronounciation in general.

And I˒ll talk about the technique use for pronounciation to show the way how we use the pronounciation in expressing in uncommon way which gives a new meaning.

Keywords: Departing, Syntaxe, semantic, indications.
